

Braintree's Conservation Areas Remain Open

If you are looking for an alternative to Pond Meadow Park, Braintree's Conservation Area trails remain open to those who want to get outside and enjoy the outdoors.

Cranberry Pond Area

Eaton's Pond Area

Braintree Town Forest

It is no surprise that trails and parking lots have been more crowded than usual with so many people home from school and work and seeking activities in the outdoors. Please use common sense, avoid gathering in large groups, and take appropriate precautions to maintain distancing when encountering other users on the trail. If a parking lot is full, please do not park on the road but instead come back later or find a different location to walk.

Please don't litter. Pack it in and pack it out!

If there are any questions or comments, or issues in need of attention, please feel free to email the Conservation Division: kphelan@braintreema.gov.
